

I have recently learned that Sinclair Broadcast Group Inc is forcing all of its affiliates to air an anti-Kerry documentary two weeks before the election. I find this to be an affront to the use of public air waves because it is so clearly partisan and not in the best public interest. Will the company be offering a an anti-Bush documentary?

I think the FCC should examine this situation and determine if the company is abusing its privileges as a media conglomerate.